Seniors List 6 Nominees For Award

Seniors will vote Thursday from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Student Union to select the recipient of this year's "Alumni Association Citation for Distinguished Teaching at Wartburg College."

Final ballot includes six nominees, who were determined through a primary election held at the senior class meeting April 14.

Nominees are the Rev. August Baetke, Sociology Department; Dr. Robert T. Dell, Religion Department; Dr. James E. Fritschel, Music Department; Dr. P. A. Kildahl, English Department; Dr. Gerhard Ottersberg, History Department; and Dr. Karl T. Schmidt, Religion Department.

This is the second year the award has been sponsored, last year's winner being Dr. Karl Schmidt. The award includes a check for $100 and will be presented at the Alumni Association's annual Sunset Supper, Thursday, May 27.

Pi Sigma To Hold Style Show Sun.

"Magical Spring" will be the theme of this year's Pi Sigma Style Show tomorrow. Everyone is invited to the shows which will be held at 1 and 3 p.m. and the tea at 2 p.m. in Centennial Lounge, according to Pi Sigma President Cindy Passow.

Hamm Victorious In April Election

By PAM PROUTY

A long week of campaigning and suspense was culminated Wednesday, April 14, with the election of Bill Hamm as student body president for the coming year.

Other officers elected were Ron Nelson, vice president; Harold Blobaum, treasurer; and Merdys Anderson, secretary.

Hamm, a history major from Clarion, has been very active in student government both at Wartburg and in high school.

Outcome Good

He describes himself as "very pleased" with the outcome of the election and with the way the campaigns were conducted. Wartburg, he says, has a fine student government, and he looks forward to the coming year with optimism.

According to Hamm, one of the major tasks of the coming year will be to determine just what the role of the student will be.

By doing this, he believes that students and faculty can come to a much better relationship than now exists. Next year, he says, there will be an honest effort to communicate between students and faculty.

New student body officers, elected April 14, are juniors Merdys Anderson, secretary; Ron Nelson, vice president; Bill Hamm, president; and Harry Blobaum, treasurer.

One of the most noble ideas to come out of the campaign, says Hamm, was that of service to others outside the college.

He is looking forward to investigating the possibilities for his Student Action Committee and to finding a project which will be meaningful to everyone involved in it.

With Wartburg's outstanding student government, Hamm feels that we have a "unique opportunity to go far next year."

He says, "I really appreciate the support of the student body, and I will do my best to make sure that next year is a truly fine one for student government.

Nelson From Fargo

Ron Nelson, who ran unopposed in the election, is a social work major from Fargo, N.D.

"I think the coming year will see a new relationship between the student body president and the student body vice president. We hope to have more team work and give the SBVP added responsibility.

"Students have, I think, been apathetic about taking advantage of the opportunities student government presents. We're hoping to revitalize this interest next year."

Blobaum Pleased

Harold Blobaum is a math major from Loogootee, Ind. He sums up his views by saying, "I'm pleased with the outcome of the elections.

"I think that student government is one of the best places to find opportunities for extra-curricular activities on campus. I wish that more people would become more involved in it."

Merdys Anderson, new student body secretary, is from Forest City and is majoring in English.

Idea Advanced

She says she thinks that besides the excitement and interest elections generate, they make students more aware of the things that can be done in student government.

"It's a sort of 'spring cleaning' process," she said. "I'm happy to have the opportunity to work with such a fine group of officers. Next year should be a good one for student government."

Bitner, Hoveland Will Play Leads In Musical Production Of 'Oklahoma'

Freshman John Bitner and sophomore Bev Hoveland will play the lead roles in the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, "Oklahoma," which will be presented May 5, 7 and 8 in the Chapel-auditorium.

Bitner will play the role of Curly and Miss Hoveland will play the part of Laurie.

Other lead roles will be played by Ruth Pirsig, sophomore, as Aunt Eller; Karen Goodno, junior, as Ado Annie; sophomore Allen Lyndrup as Will; senior Jim Gronewold as Jud; Dave Hutson, senior, as Alli Hakin; and freshman Dave Suby as Carnes.

Musical Will Be Complete

Wartburg's "Oklahoma" will be a full stage production, according to John Gill, director of the Wartburg Theatre.

The musical is based on the original stage production which played in New York from 1943-1949. This, in turn, was based on an earlier production which was staged in 1927.

Student Directors senior Myrna Kluiter and Carol Arendt are assisting Gill in the theatrical aspect of the presentation. Senior Betty Kalkwarf is aiding Dr. James Fritschel, Music Department, in the musical direction.

Orchestra To Be Used

Orchestra to be used is comprised of members of the community and surrounding area as well as Wartburg students. Senior Carolyn Wulff is serving as rehearsal pianist.

Mrs. Charles Ager is directing the choreography for the musical. Dance routines will be performed by 10 members of the Castle Singers.

Admission for "Oklahoma" is not covered by student activity tickets. Advance tickets will be sold in the box office of the Chapel - auditorium. Date of ticket sales will be announced later.

Rehearsing for the upcoming musical, "Oklahoma" are freshman John Bitner and sophomores Ruth Pirsig and Bev Hoveland. The performance will be staged in the Chapel-auditorium May 5, 7 and 8.

Student Body Leaders Are On Campus Today

"Concepts of government" is the theme of the Iowa College Student Government Association Conference on campus today. Dave Hutson, Wartburg student body president, is head of the organization.

Schedule of activities included a speech by Vladimir A. Sinitsyn, attache from the Soviet Embassy, who spoke in the Chapel-auditorium at 11 this morning.

Afternoon discussion groups will be concerned with social life, academic life, budgeting, newspaper, radio and a meeting of Iowa Conference student body presidents.

Kingston Trio To Sing For May Pops Concert

One of the country's most popular folk singing groups will perform here for the annual Spring Pops Concert, May 2 at 8 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

The Kingston Trio, composed of two members of the original trio, Bob Shane and Nick Reynolds, and a third, John Stewart, will present a variety of folk music.

First Kingston Trio was organized in 1956 by Dave Guard and pals Shane and Reynolds. Guard and Shane were reared in Hawaii and became interested in music when they were seven.

Besides the native songs of the Islands, they learned music of other Polynesian areas from visiting yachtmen and travelers.

Reynolds, who was born in California, was taught folk songs by his father, a Navy captain.

The Trio's first professional engagement was in May, 1957, at Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., in a campus hangout.

Frank Werber, now personal manager, heard them at Stanford and got them a tryout booking in San Francisco's Purple Onion club. They soon became headliners, and the demand for the Trio in television and club appearances increased.

In 1961 Guard's place was taken over by Stewart who had been an acquaintance of the Kingstons for several years writing songs for them like "Green Grasses" and "Molly Dee."

Many of the songs Stewart composes reflect the spirit of the War Between the States, an enthusiastic hobby of Stewart.

Tickets for the performance are three dollars and can be purchased from Rog Prehn, Pops Concert chairman, or at the door.

Music, Drama Are Features Of Convocations This Week

Convocation programs this week will feature music and drama.

Music students will present Tuesday's program. Carolyn Wulff, senior, will play a piano selection, "The Fountain of Acqua Paolo," Griffes.

She will accompany junior Charles Ciorba, trombone, in "Concerto for Trombone and Orchestra," and senior Ruth Ann Darnauer, flute, in "Sonatine for Flute and Piano," Dutilleux.

Miss Wulff will also play for a group of Castle Singers who will sing "May Every Tongue" and "The Staff Necromancer," by Thompson.

Junior Dennis Egre, baritone, will sing "Sweeter Than Roses," Purcell, and "Luke Havergal," Duke. He will be accompanied by senior pianist, Judy Lanaghan.

Miss Lanaghan will also accompany senior Beverly Stendel, soprano, who will sing "Patron, das macht der Wind," by Bach, and senior George Curtis, French horn, who will play "Concerto for French Horn and Orchestra," by Strauss.

Norman and Sandra Dietz, dramatic duo from New York City, will present their "Theatre of Concern" in Thursday's convocation.

"Theatre of Concern," dealing with contemporary spiritual life, was formed in 1962. Since then the Dietzes have staged a dozen different plays at colleges, churches and universities across the United States.

They will present "The Well-Spoken Acrobat," a comic examination of the frustrations of human communication, and "Old Ymir's Clay Pot," a fable about a good potter and the rebellious pot he creates and forgives.

Dietz wrote both of these selections and has presented them on national tours.

30 Chicago Counselors Tour Campus Today

Thirty Chicago area high school counselors will visit on campus today as a part of a six college tour of Iowa.

Counselors will be here from 2:15 to 6 p.m. Activities scheduled for them include a coffee, a campus tour, a program featuring questions and answers about Wartburg's admissions policies and a dinner in the Castle Room of the Union.

How To Risk Your Life

An old cliche says that we risk our lives one way or another every day. One walk to the corner of Bremer Avenue and 10th Street (commonly known as the Hill) will readily prove this fact to any doubter.

Most students, at one time or another in their college careers, face the decision of whether or not to cross Bremer Avenue.

Until one is familiar with the situation, the decision seems relatively easy. A person simply walks up to the corner, looks both ways, remembers that drivers are supposed to stop for pedestrians in the crosswalk, and saunters across the street.

Decision Difficult For Veteran

To a veteran of crossing the Hill intersection, however, the decision is much more difficult. He walks up to the crossing, looks both ways to see if cars are coming and nervously starts across because it looks as though the car nearest to him is beginning to slow down.

But somewhere in the process, the veteran realizes that this driver is not different from most of the others one encounters at this intersection and his car is not going to stop.

This leaves the veteran in a rather tight spot. He balances precariously on the center white line, waits in fear until all the cars in sight have whizzed by, and then staggers into the nearest establishment for a tranquilizer.

Winter Provides Excuse

In the wintertime, perhaps this situation is at least a little more understandable. The Hill is steep and when the roads are icy it is hard for drivers to stop. On the Hill truck drivers probably find it difficult to stop at any time. (Most students who have been barely missed by one of these trucks will testify to this fact.)

But for the average driver in good weather, there is little excuse for not stopping if a pedestrian is either in the crosswalk or waiting to cross.

Some drivers claim that they do not see the signs warning about the crosswalk. This could well be true, since they are placed in a rather incongruous spot.

Signs Have Been Moved

For a while the signs were in the middle of the street, but since that time they have been moved to a spot where they are not so easily seen. Maybe one solution would be to move the sign back to a more prominent position.

The College Hill crossing is not a safe one. Many students will bear witness to the fact. Until something is done about it, and anything would be an improvement, we must continue to play a game of "I dare you" with the drivers who either ignore the signs or do not see them.

This year, 1965, will go down in history at Wartburg College as the baseball season that never was.

You can surely tell that it's spring. The television rooms in all the dorms are almost empty until after 7 p.m.

Now is a wonderful time for cutting -- cutting campus, cutting classes.

Wartburg is a bit ahead of the time. NOW is the time for Spring Break.

Folkerts' Folly

Employee Reveals Den Life

By JIM FOLKERTS

There are many wide and varied facets of life in the Wartburg community. One of the most memorable and most rewarding would be the art of being a student employee. The experience gained from these extra - curricular activities is oftentimes exciting indeed.

For example, let us investigate the activities encountered while being a soda jerk at the Den. I chose this area because it is the only really familiar one to me and it should be possible to point out some interesting facts after four years of personal experience.

Also, this area is the most "honest area," no padding of hours, etc.

Folkerts

First of all are the interesting co-workers. As a freshman, I had the opportunity to work with a senior girl who was sweet indeed, but who was very emotional and sang constantly. While not working, she just stood behind the counter and gave recitals. This is probably where I obtained the vocal talent I possess today.

This year, the majority of workers are sheltered Wartburgers. Not too many unusual experiences have taken place, except perhaps with the one who continuously wears a seer - sucker spring suit and is always hollering like an Indian.

Now that we have met a few of the gracious workers, we must investigate some of the memorable occurrences. Have you ever been in a milk flood?

Well, this can happen when the udder falls off the cow. The result -- milk all over, workers lapping it up and the cafeteria workers placing kettles all over the caf kitchen to catch the drippings from Bessie.

The 7-Up machine oftentimes runs uncontrollably and unobserved, draining three or four tanks of the sparkling liquid down the drain. Thus, we have the reason the Den is sometimes out of cold beverages.

The coffee maker, bless its little hot plate, oftentimes forgets to shut off its water, resulting in coffee on the floor, on the glazed doughnuts and on the brownies (which can be hidden with goop if in too poor condition).

A few more incidents, resulting unfavorably, were answering the phone by saying, "By the grace of God and the ingenuity of Alexander Graham Bell you are now connected with the Wartburg College Den." This really caused a reaction from the God-fearing person placing the call.

There is also the art of removing a frying pan from the fire as a co-worker is cracking an egg to dump in that removed pan. The result is good -- open hearth egg sandwich, something not even Roy's can match.

Yes, find a campus job and you'll always have something for which to remember Wartburg. Try the Den. After careful analysis, the crowds always present in the Den are probably not there to enjoy the delicious morsels of food, but to watch the spastic performers in the side-show.

Kriesel Views Civil Rights After Visiting Selma, Ala.

By JACK EDEN

The war on slavery in the United States, thought to be over 100 years ago, is still going on in some parts of the country.

Robert Kriesel, Religion Department, returned from the front lines of one of these modern day battles at Selma, Ala., a few weeks ago.

"Demonstrations at Selma were definitely not mob violence but essentially a Christian movement," said Kriesel.

"They were coordinated by and composed mostly of two Negro organizations, the Student Nonviolence Coordinating Committee and the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. The latter is headed by Dr. Martin Luther King and his associates."

8 Went From Seminary

Kriesel, along with eight other men from Wartburg Seminary, Dubuque, were in Selma March 15 to 18 as civil rights workers. Two of the men, Norman Litzner and Bill Thompson, are alumni of Wartburg. They were followed the next week by ten more from the seminary.

They slept in a Baptist church in the heart of the Negro ghetto in Selma and were invited to eat at different churches in the area. According to Kriesel, they didn't have time for anything more than to grab a sandwich anyway.

"The hospitality of the Negroes was tremendous. We were welcome to almost anything that was theirs," he commented.

Men March To Selma

On the day that they arrived they participated in a march to the Selma courthouse where they heard Dr. King speak. About four thousand people participated in the march. Most of them were Negroes.

Kriesel said that the Citizen's Voting League of Selma had invited King to come Jan. 2. Negroes at that time were being given a special test before registration. This consisted of things such as reciting the U. S. Constitution or reading a Chinese newspaper.

"The problem is not one of race, social status or creed, but one of understanding," said Kriesel. "If we look at it in this light, we can deal with both whites and Negroes." While there he talked to city officials of Marion and Greensborough, Ala.

Lack Of Lutherans Present

"I was shocked to see others of other faiths pouring into Selma by the fifties and hundreds compared to the lack of Lutherans," he said.

"The one thing that really impressed me was the peaceful submissiveness the Negroes were using to win their fight," Kriesel said. "They have been beaten down for generations. Now they are using this to gain public sympathy and support."

Letters To The Editor

Inattention Shown Organist

To The Editor:

Approximately a month ago you might recall a German organist being on campus. For those of you who don't remember, the organist I am referring to was Prof. Arno Schonstedt who presented a recital in the Fine Arts Center on March 25.

Those who were present certainly can witness to the fact that the attendance wasn't anywhere near the expected 150 capacity.

It was encouraging to see that at least a small group of students were interested enough to set aside other activities that they might hear a man of this caliber perform.

Schoenstedt Renowned

The Trumpet, prior to Mr. Schonstedt's performance, stated that "His recitals in most of the leading cities of Europe have received wide acclaim" and that "He is presently on his second tour of America."

Those who attended the performance will certainly not deny the profound excellence and the tremendous spirit in which it was presented. Such an outstanding opportunity to hear an organist of this caliber all too often goes by unnoticed by the unconcerned student.

Attendance Poor

Not only was the attendance at the recital poor, but I also thought that a man of this caliber should have received much more attention than was given to him.

Because he was a foreigner with a limited knowledge of English, and simply because he was a guest of the college, he definitely should have had the best of attention.

I witnessed the fact that he dined alone in the cafeteria on the evening prior to the day of his recital. Not only did he eat alone, but he also paid for his meal, which was accomplished only after some difficulty in communicating with the cashier.

I question with a great deal of concern the college's consideration of this guest, especially a man of such importance. Too often the concern for visitors is ignored. This indeed can be of danger to the impression gained by visitors who come to Wartburg.

Sincerely,
Dennis Wenzel

WJC Criticized For Punishment

To The Editor:
Dear W.J.C. Members,

Since I wish to thank each and every one of you, I am taking this way as it is the fastest. I am very grateful to you all for teaching me something new about babysitting while at Wartburg College.

I have always been taught that to accept a babysitting position was to accept full responsibility for those children placed in my care. That responsibility extended until such time as the parents returned.

You have removed this old-fashioned notion from my head, and I do appreciate it. I hadn't realized that at Wartburg, the above mentioned responsibility lasts only until girls' hours.

If the parents aren't home by the time one must leave so as to be in by hours, the babysitter should leave anyway. One shouldn't worry about the crying baby; the important thing is to be back in the dorm on time.

For the benefit of those readers who babysit in this vicinity, you needn't bother to call in and tell your housemother that you will be late because it doesn't do any good.

You must be in on time regardless, or run the very real risk of being campused for your attempt at fulfilling an outdated responsibility.

Thank you so much for your help and enlightenment, WJC.

Sincerely,
Marsha Myers

Knights To Meet Central Today In Opening Conference Games

By BILL GLITZ

Central College will invade Waverly this afternoon, as Wartburg makes another attempt to open its 1965 Iowa Conference baseball season.

Coach Earnest Oppermann and his charges finally got a game in this season on Thursday. It was not a successful debut, but at least it was a start as Loras defeated the Knights, 9-5.

Both teams hit the ball well, but Loras came up with the big ginger in two home runs.

Duhawks Catch Up

The Duhawks first homer brought them from a one run deficit to a one run lead in the fourth inning, and then in the fifth the second four-bagger gave the winners what proved to be enough cushion to win.

Doyle Burn started for the Knights and lasted only two-thirds of an inning. A parade of pitchers followed Burn, and they all took their lumps pretty consistently from Loras.

Losing pitcher was Terry Fairchild, the third hurler who Oppermann summoned to the mound for the afternoon. Fairchild gave up the Loras go-ahead run on a two run homer to Tom Schiltz in the fourth inning. He was also touched for the other Loras homer in the fifth.

24 Hits Sprayed

In all, 24 hits were sprayed around Loras' amphitheater - type ball park. Loras got 13, and Wartburg 11. The Knights started quick with two runs in the first and three in the fourth inning, but from this point on the door was closed.

Oppermann said yesterday that he had planned on not letting any pitcher go more than two innings.

"We were attempting to find out just who could pitch and who couldn't on Thursday," Oppermann said.

Actually the pitching was not Oppie's biggest concern after he looked at the entire game.

"Base running bothered me the most," he said.

Renning Caught

He seemed especially displeased with Jim Renning getting hung up between second and third on a ground ball to the left side of the infield.

"We've done this before and it hurt, and yesterday it cost us a run."

In looking at several other departments of play, Oppermann expressed pleasure at his team's hitting ("especially for their first time out"), the infield play, especially that of Roger Kittleson and Lowell Grunwald and Gary Ludvigsen's catching ("Excellent for a sophomore").

Oppermann did accomplish one major objective Thursday, that being to get a look at everybody who he took along. Although this objective was meant, Oppie still pointed out that the Knights first order of business was to win, and that they failed here.

Walters To Start

Now to the business at hand -- today's ballgame. Oppermann plans to go with Dave Walters, who, from his record on Thursday, deserves this start according to Oppie. After this, pitching plans are incomplete.

Central brings back six lettermen from last year's team who split with the Knights. One of those lettermen is pitcher Lyle Kooiker, who shut the Knights out on three hits last year.

Picture May Be Clearer

If the weatherman comes through with a good day, the picture of Wartburg baseball success may be a little clearer as to its eventual success or failure this year around supper time tonight.

Rain has already washed out two doubleheaders with two of the perennially weak teams in the conference (Dubuque and William Penn), so the Knights won and lost column in conference action will come exclusively from games with teams with the "tough cookie" label.

"Tough Cookie" number one is Central this afternoon at 1 p.m.

How High Is Jump?

Joel Niemann, March Athlete of the Month, works out on the high jump while getting ready for Tuesday's dual meet with Luther.

Knights Win Only Two Sets In Shellacking From Luther

Wartburg won only two sets in a 9-0 shellacking suffered at the hands of the Luther Norsemen here Tuesday afternoon.

It was the second loss in as many meets for the Knights, who dropped an 8-1 meet to State College of Iowa last week.

Only two Wartburg men were able to win a set against Luther. They were senior John Thalacker of Tripoli, and freshman Palmer Clements of Stevens Point, Wis.

Thalacker, playing in the number one spot, was defeated by Dean Hanson of Luther 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Clements was beaten in the number three singles 8-6, 1-6, 6-4.

Results of the Luther meet were as follows:

Singles

Dean Hanson (L) beat John Thalacker 4-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Ray Makeever (L) beat Mike Becker 6-1, 6-0.

Paul Sandstrom (L) beat Palmer Clements 8-6, 1-6, 6-4.

Sam Larson (L) beat Doug Langholz 6-2, 6-4.

Bill Saetvelt (L) beat Ken Barr 6-3, 6-2.

Wayne Paulson (L) beat Conrad Muehling 6-1, 6-1.

Doubles

Hanson-Makeever beat Thalacker-Langholz 6-4, 6-2.

Sandstrom-Larson beat Herrmann-Becker 6-2, 6-1.

Saetveit-Paulson beat Barr-Muehling 6-4, 6-3.

Three Firsts For Thinclads At Iowa Conference Meet

Wartburg track and field team returned home from the Iowa Conference Relays at Pella Tuesday night clutching three first place finishes.

Harold Shudlick, Joel Niemann, Rick Hauck and Jack Fistler teamed up to win the 480-yard shuttle high-low relay in :57.8.

A leap of 21' 8 3/4" gave Lowell Syverson a first in the broad jump, while Laird Yock won the high jump at 5'10".

Win Other Placings

Other placings showed Joel Niemann third in the high jump, Jim Woessner second in the discus, Kurt Weiland second in the pole vault and third in the 880-yard relay.

At the annual Art Dickinson Relays at State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, last weekend, Harold Shudlick garnered top spot in the 120-yard relays with a time of :15.1.

Lowell Syverson placed fourth in the broad jump, while Laird Yock took fourth in the high jump.

In the first of the relay meets at Cornell, Knights brought home one trophy, two seconds and three fifth place finishes.

480 Shuttle Brings Trophy

Trophy came with the 480-yard high-low shuttle hurdle relay. Harold Shudlick, Jack Fistler, Joel Niemann and Jerry Zehr ran the event in 1:02.2.

Kurt Weiland took second in the pole vault, while Lynn Altemeier finished second in the javelin.

Knights are in Des Moines this weekend participating in the Drake Relays.

WRA Launches Softball Tourney

Women's Recreation Association softball tournament opened Wednesday night with victories for Hebron and Wartburg.

Although Miss Barbara Belk deserted her dorm and joined the Vollmer team, Wartburg had little trouble obtaining its 9-1 victory.

Freshman Jane Vagts contributed to Hebron's cause in defeating Centennial 9-6. Her grand slam home run managed to elude the hands of three Centennial fielders.

The tournament will be continued Wednesday night.

Linksters Face Loras, Luther Today

Knights conclude a busy week today in golf as they face Loras, Drake Invitational champions, and Luther at the Country Club course in Dubuque.

Wartburg golfers finished fifth in the 18-team field at the Drake Invitational tournament in Des Moines Friday.

Loras won the tournament with a 290 while the local golfers had a 312. Jim Kaahallek of Loras was medalist with a 71, while Butch Holland of Wartburg was runner-up with a 72.

Thursday's quadrangular meet with Simpson, Coe and Central at the Des Moines course was not completed due to darkness.

Last Wednesday Wartburg linksters put on a good showing at the Waverly course with a 14 - 1 victory over the University of Dubuque.

Following were the results from Wednesday's conference play:

Les Holland (W) 75 def. Gary Goodman 78, 2-1

Bob Miller (W) 77 def. Tom Osten 84, 3-0

Leigh Pietsch (W) 72 def. Tom Osten 84, 3-0

Harry Jebsen (W) 76 def. Tom Gerdes 85, 3-0

Norm Luttinen (W) 76 def. Frank Uhrich 91, 3-0

Becker's Blunders

Baseballers Prove Much

By MIKE BECKER

Thanks to Outfly this could be a very stimulating column this week, or else very depressing considering the way you look at it.

Becker

Our baseball team finally had a chance to prove itself and lost 9-5. We proved many things -- we have plenty of power, even some speed, a great lack of pitching and a good defense. However, some of the players may have been lacking because of the disturbance raised Wednesday night in a mass crusade for that beloved day, Outfly.

Leading the Knights' hitting attack were John Mantey with 3 for 4 and John Hearn with 2 for 4, one of which would have been a tennis-courter at the Wartburg field. Nails Walters turned in the best pitching performance of those who tried, scaring the Loras batmen at first and then putting them away.

Tracksters were especially glad we had Outfly for the first time in 4 years on a day with no track meet.

Our ill-fated tennis team has seen two matches and watched both of them float away. With consecutive defeats inflicted on the Knights by SCI and Luther, we could look forward to a long season.

Palmer Clements, freshman from Stevens Point, Wis., looks like one of our better prospects on the courts this year. John Thalacker has been playing number 1 man; Doug Langholz, number 2 man; yours truly, number 3 man; Palmer, number 4 man (should be much higher); Coon Muehling, number 5 man; and Ken Barr, number 5 man.

With the return of Jack Wendt, last year's number 1 man, the team's overall strength should be greatly improved. So far we have all met with the same lack of success, except Palmer, who is our only match winner so far this year.

Golfers have started out tremendously and will need to maintain that pace to win the conference, which I think they should easily do.

Today we have a doubleheader against Central and Tuesday we have a very important dual track meet with Luther. Be there or expect to receive an Oppie card.

Debate Squad Ranks At National Tourney

Wartburg debaters were rated among the top 16 in the nation in last week's National Pi Kappa Delta Debate Tournament held at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, Wash.

Sophomores Connie Meyer and Sue Stueber, juniors Walt Buenning and Lois Reyelts compiled a record of nine wins and seven losses. Buenning and Reyelts received a rating of excellent for participation in eight debates.

University of the Pacific, Stockton, Calif., was declared national winner for the second year in a row. Over seven hundred debaters attended the tournament representing schools from every state.

First Time For Honor

This is the first time that Wartburg has had the honor of participating in the national tournament.

"Wartburg debaters deserve the highest compliments," Douglas said, "for their outstanding participation in the tournament."

Colleges and universities receive invitations to the tournament on the basis of achievements gained in their individual debate and forensic programs.

700 Students Participate

According to Douglas, the seven hundred students at the tournament represent the highest level of scholarship that these college campuses can provide.

Theodore Karl, national vice president of Pi Kappa Delta, congratulated the Wartburg group after the awards were presented.

According to Douglas, Karl said, "This puts Wartburg College on the map nationally, concerning forensics and debate. It is a name which will draw attention when future debaters congregate. It is up to the Wartburg students to carry on the work."

Three Seniors Give Recitals On Tuesday

Pianist Grace Hemingson; oboeist Richard Koehler; and mezzo-soprano Jeanette Baier will present their senior recitals Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the Chapel-auditorium.

A student of Miss Jean Abramson, Music Department, Miss Hemingson will play selections by Haydn, Chopin, Debussy and Bartok.

Accompanied by sophomore Bonnie Thurn, Koehler will play numbers by Telemann, Nielsen and Paladilhe. He is a student of John E. Bentley of the Music Department.

Miss Baier will sing selections by Handel, von Fielitz, Rimsky-Korsakov and Ippolitov-Ivanov. She will be accompanied by sophomore Marilyn Rehder and is under the direction of Maynard C. Anderson, Music Department.

Seven Soloists Will Appear In Symphony Youth Concert

Seven soloists have been selected to participate tomorrow in the annual Wartburg Community Symphony Youth Concert. It will be the last performance of the season.

Bill Neff and Julie Johnson, violinists from Mason City; George Curtis, French horn player from Waverly; Judy Lanaghan, pianist from Clinton; Sylvia Wedeking, clarinetist from Waverly will present solos.

Beverly Stendel, soprano vocalist from Owatonna, Minn.; and Robert Clark, pianist from Nashua will also perform during the concert, which starts at 8 p.m. in Chapel-auditorium.

Tickets may be purchased at the door. Symphony patrons will be admitted by their membership cards.

Choir Members Will Tour

Starting this weekend and continuing throughout the month of May, the Wartburg Choir will be making several weekend concert appearances in Iowa and Illinois.

These trips are being planned to help prepare the choir for their European tour this summer.

Choir members will be performing tonight at the Jefferson High School Auditorium in Cedar Rapids. Tomorrow afternoon they will sing at Bethesda Lutheran Church in Ames and tomorrow night they will give a concert at First Methodist Church in Marshalltown.

Next Friday evening, the choir will travel to Our Saviour's Lutheran Church in Humboldt. Saturday they will be in Graettinger and Sunday afternoon they will sing at First Lutheran Church in Northwood.

Sunday evening they will be performing at Our Savior's Lutheran Church in Osage.

On Sunday evening, May 16, the choir will sing at St. John American Lutheran Church in Cedar Falls. On Saturday evening, May 22, they will give a home concert in the Chapel-auditorium.

During the weekend of May 28, the choir will be in Illinois. They will sing in Rochelle that Friday evening, at Trinity Church Auditorium in Oaklawn Saturday evening and at Moreland Lutheran Church in Chicago on Sunday evening.

Norheim Named Exchange Program Director

Raymond Norheim, History Department, has been named to fill the newly-created post of Exchange Program Director.

Position is a result of a recommendation by the college's North Central Association self-study and of requests by the students.

Pres. John W. Bachman said the program is currently investigative and that the new director will look into exchanges with other universities both in this country and abroad.
